

New Paths with S/4HANA

Sanna Takanen

My name is Sanna Takanen. I am responsible for our SAP Business Group at Accenture in the DACH region.

I am convinced that we have the best SAP team in the world at Accenture. I started my career directly in SAP 19 years ago. And I am still excited about the new topics that come up: besides S/4HANA Core, for example topics such as EWM, TM or Analytics. These are areas where I am still learning something.

What we do within our SAP Business Group on a daily basis is, for example, develop strategic S/4HANA roadmap projects and deliver them together with our clients. We really want to identify the business value and define the path to S/4HANA. As a next step, of course, comes the implementation phase. We deliver brownfield upgrades with our clients, greenfield transformations, really large projects, and practically everything in between that can be achieved in a hybrid model.

What I love about my job is that I have the opportunity to lead large transformation programs where I have a lot of responsibility. For example, the last project I was involved in: I was the Program Lead for a client where we worked together with 700 Accenture colleagues and moved the client to S/4HANA in a very short period of time. I really enjoyed working together with colleagues from all over the world with all kinds of different skills.

There is still a lot ahead of us when it comes to shaping the S/4HANA landscape alongside our clients. That is why we are looking for experienced professionals to join our fantastic team.

I look forward to receiving your application. And if you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me.
