Question: What should everyone know about Accenture + Workday?

Colin Anderson

Digital HR Planning and Analytics Lead

I think there's really two things. First, innovation. There is so much innovation that we are doing together with Workday. And the amazing part about being both a customer and a partner is we get to do those innovations and bring them to our people and share those innovations with our clients. And it's amazing. And the second is all things industries. Really how do we take what we've done as far as the core and extend it to really make it fit for purpose for our clients and the industries that they're in?
